

THE EDUCATIONAL POTENTIAL OF ABU ABDULLAH RUDAKI'S LITERARY HERITAGE IN THE EDUCATIONAL PROCESS

Vakhabova Dilfuza Rozikovna

Lecturer of the Department «History and Philology» of the International University of Asia, doctoral student of the Bukhara State University

dilfuzavaxobova72@gmail.com

<https://doi.org/10.5281/zenodo.11274751>

Abstract:

The article explores the educational potential of the works of the great Persian poet Abu Abdullah Rudaki and its impact on the educational process. It investigates how Rudaki's poetry can be utilized to shape value systems, foster emotional intelligence, and enhance cultural understanding. The analysis examines methods of integrating Rudaki's literary legacy into educational programs to enrich the learning experience.

Keywords:

Abu Abdullah Rudaki, literary heritage, education, educational process, poetry, values, emotional intelligence, cultural context.

Introduction:

Abu Abdullah Rudaki, often hailed as the father of Persian poetry, has left an indelible mark on the history of literature and Eastern culture. His poetry, rich with vivid imagery and profound philosophical meaning, provides a unique resource for nurturing and educating. In this article, we will explore how Rudaki's literary legacy can be employed to enrich the educational process, influencing the formation of values and the development of emotional intelligence in students.

Discussion and Results:

Values:

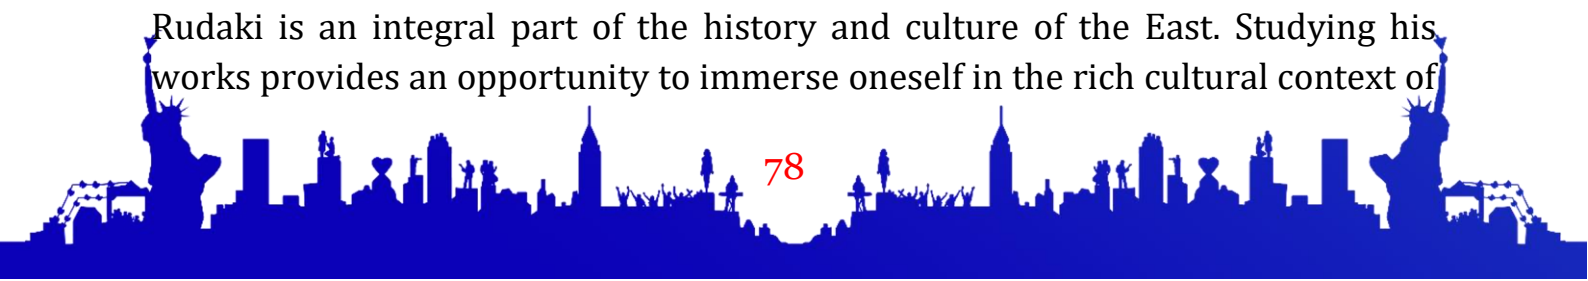

In his works, Rudaki expressed deep moral and ethical values. His poetry can serve as a source for shaping values among students, inspiring reflections on justice, honesty, and wisdom.

Emotional Intelligence:

Rudaki's verses are infused with emotional nuances, reflecting joy, sorrow, love, and disappointment. Incorporating his poetry into the educational process can contribute to the development of emotional intelligence among students, helping them better understand and manage their emotions.

Cultural Context:

Rudaki is an integral part of the history and culture of the East. Studying his works provides an opportunity to immerse oneself in the rich cultural context of the Persian people. This contributes to the formation of tolerance and an understanding of cultural diversity among students.

Conclusion:

The literary heritage of Abu Abdullah Rudaki is a valuable resource for enriching the educational process. His poetry offers a unique opportunity to shape value systems, develop emotional intelligence, and delve into the cultural context of the East. Integrating Rudaki's creativity into educational programs can contribute to profound learning, stimulating creative thinking, and fostering cultural understanding among students.

Literature and Sources:

1. Rudaki. "Divan." Encyclopedia of Islamic Philosophy. (www.muslimphilosophy.com)
2. Alif Media. "Abu Abdullah Rudaki: Life and Creativity." (www.alifmedia.com)
3. Abu-Hayyan at-Tawhidi. "Le Livre du Poète Rudaki."
4. Mirzoyev A. M. "Rudaki. Life and Creativity." - Moscow: Nauka, 1968. pp. 122-124.
5. Iran. viii. Persian literature (2) Classical Архивная копия от 18 октября 2020 на Wayback Machine // Iranica
6. The Encyclopaedia of Islam, New Edition. Leiden: Brill Publishers, 2019 https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Iran_VIII._Persian_literature_\(2\)_Classical_Encyclopædia_Iranica_Classical_Encyclopædia_Iranica).

